

The Australian Arms Series of 1948-1964

An example of the use of the Arms stamps to pay for a telegram, in this case a 22-word telegram costing £1/7/6, sent from Devonport in 1951. The higher-value stamps on the telegram form were perforated with a telegraph puncture to render them worthless to collectors.

A 1959 letter using the 5/- value towards the cost of a 1½ oz letter from Burwood (NSW) to Massachusetts
