

I received a letter from my brother-in-law Chas (Snr), who had a jewellery shop in Ruthven St, and told me everything at home was going smoothly. In my reply I say that Chas (Jnr) is going exceptionally well and I often chat with him and have no problem calling him "Sir". Ralson from Welcamp and I get along well and have a share system going. By the 9th April everything is getting busy but we are not nearly scared yet. I asked Chas to tell Enid (niece) I am still good with a pick and shovel and will be her assistant gardner when I get back.

I spent two whole days going through the Cairo Museum but I am unable to describe it in writing. With everything I have seen I will have lots to tell them when I get back.
